PLAIN STATEMENT OF BRITISH GOVERNMENT'S FOREIGN POLICY

A clear statement of British foreign policy was given in the House of Commons during the debate yesterday by Mr. Anthony Eden, above, the Foreign Secretary.

SCENE NEAR MADRID REFUGEES FROM GETAFE

Thousands Fleeing Along Roads

PATHTIC SIGHTS DESCRIBED

London, To-day. The war-din over and around Madrid grows greater every hour. The latest despatches from the insurgent quarters declare that several of General Varela's troops are engaged in furious fighting in the suburbs. Reuter's correspondent, Mr. J. R. Allwork, in the capital itself, telephones that all night he heard the boom of the insurgents' heavy guns on the outskirts of the capital as the Government Militia fought a fierce rearguard action from Getafe and Leganes.

Yesterday the capital was subjected to three air-raids, the first of which took place at 8.30 a.m., there being two more before 10.30. Government anti-aircraft guns mounted on the top of tall buildings near Reuter's correspondent's house successfully drove two huge insurgent bombers to a higher altitude for safety, while citizens scurried for shelter.

Later the correspondent motored in the direction of Getafe, the sector where the insurgents made a major advance, and found the roads blocked at intervals by barricades of sandbags and paving-stones, thronged by refugees streaming to Madrid from all the roads along which the insurgents are advancing. They were a pathetic sight, some travelling in farm-carts drawn by mules and donkeys, while others were dragging their few personal belongings, including bedding and even live poultry, in little hand-barrows. The poorest trudged with their backs laden with unwieldy bundles. Trams passed, their tops piled high with mattresses and furniture.

Near the front line under insurgent gunfire the correspondent found a Scottish ambulance whose personnel seemingly bear charmed lives, doing heroic work. On Wednesday night they conveyed 120 wounded people from Getafe under constant fire. — Reuter.

Appeal Issued In Spain

"ENEMY AT THE GATES OF MADRID"

Madrid, To-day. The following appeal was issued yesterday by the new Government after a session which lasted all night: "Spaniards, defend the revolution; defend the Republic. Everyone must mobilise for victory. The enemy is at the gates of Madrid."

OBLIGATIONS TO BE RESPECTED

STRENGTH OF PURPOSE AND OF ARMS

EUROPEAN SETTLEMENT SOUGHT

London, To-day.

Speaking in the House of Commons yesterday, reviewing the foreign situation, the Foreign Secretary, Mr. Anthony Eden, said that he would not emulate the practice of making statements on international policy from public rostrums in unadorned tones, but it was desirable to state the Government's view plainly. Britain's relations with France were close and cordial and it was perhaps natural that in a disturbed world the two great Western democracies should be drawn together. But there was nothing exclusive in that friendship. What he said about France applied equally to Belgium.

There had been repeated declarations in Germany of the desire for closer Anglo-German friendship, which Britain genuinely desired. Commenting on the tendency noticeable in Germany to blame Britain for Germany's economic difficulties, Mr. Eden said that Britain could not accept the doctrine, which was not in accordance with the facts. While it was impossible to detail the British attempts at economic and financial co-operation with Germany since the war, he remarked that Britain alone had lent Germany almost the equivalent of what she had received in reparations. The Government would welcome Germany's participation in the tripartite currency declaration.

STOP PRESS

The M.C.C. had scored 74 for 2 wickets against Victoria at lunch to-day. Shortly after the interval, however, they lost Leyland, who played his first innings of the tour, for 24 at 96. — Reuter.

Later: 206 for 3 at tea. (Barnett 107 not out. — Reuter.

Gibraltar, To-day. — The Government Militia have launched an offensive at Estrepona, where it is believed the insurgents number only 1,000, against 20,000 Militia. Firing was heard from Estrepona all day long. It is reported that the insurgents are retreating to Guadiaro.

Great panic prevails at La Linea, where there is only a small insurgent force. Hundreds of women and children from there are en route to Gibraltar, fearing a Government bombardment. Two lorry-loads of wounded Moorish soldiers have arrived at San Roque. — Reuter.

A house collapse occurred in Wanchai Road this afternoon near Messrs. Lane, Crawford and Co.'s Bakery, in which one woman was killed and two men were injured. The premises which collapsed were originally intended for tenements, the building being partly erected some years ago. But it was never completed, and is now in the process of being pulled down.

TWO TYPHOONS REPORTED

A message received by the American Consulate-General from the Manila Observatory this morning reported that at 9 a.m. two typhoons were situated in the Pacific, the first in about Longitude 127° E., Latitude 12° N., moving north-west, and the other in about Longitude 144° E., Latitude 17° N., moving west. The first is about 200 miles south-east of Manila and the second is well out in the ocean, many miles from the nearest land.

NEW GERMAN PENAL CODE

INTERESTING DETAILS OUTLINED

"COMMON WEAL TAKES PRECEDENCE BEFORE PRIVATE BENEFIT"

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL

Berlin, To-day.

At a press reception at the Ministry of Justice yesterday, Dr. Guertner, Minister of Justice, announced that the Commission appointed by Herr Adolf Hitler in 1933 to revise the German Penal Code had now completed its work. The Chancellor's instructions to the Commission had been to create the German Penal Code anew in accordance with the newly-gained fundamental views of the present time.

The draft of the new Penal Code begins with the following Preamble: "Convinced that the German Penal Code must be penetrated with fundamental views of National-Socialism, the Reich Government has passed this law and gives it to the German nation. The natural feeling of the people for right and wrong decides the application of any Penal Code."

"Atonement for wrong, protection of the nation, strengthening the determination for a national community sense: these are the purposes of the Penal Code. Its task is to preserve the honour and loyalty in race and inheritance and the ability to defend the nation and the working energy of the people. That is characterised by adherence to the principle of 'The common weal takes precedence before private benefit.' It is in this spirit that the law has been created, and in this spirit it will be administered by the appointed judges who serve the German nation as defenders of justice."

Dr. Franz Guertner, Reich Minister of Justice, has just announced the completion of the new Penal Code in Germany. (Trans-Ocean photo).

SALT REVENUE IN KWANGSI

Canton, To-day. — In order to improve the national revenue of Kwangsi Province Mr. Yin Koon-shun has been appointed by the Ministry of Finance to reorganise the salt revenue system in the province. It is learned that Mr. Yin will go to Kweilin to assume his office in a few days. — From a Special Correspondent.

Interesting details of the new German Penal Code were forthcoming after Dr. Guertner, Minister of Justice, announced its completion at the press reception yesterday.

A jurist speaking on the subject of "murder" and "manslaughter" announced that "a murderer under the new code is a person who kills another in a fit of homicidal passion for sexual reasons, out of greed or other ignoble motives, or with a treacherous or cruel manner, or with a dangerous implement, or in preparation of another crime." All other cases of intentional killing are regarded as "manslaughter," and punishable by prison terms ranging from five years to life.

An innovation is made in the form of punishment for persons equipping themselves with dangerous implements for the committing of murder. "The irresponsible endangering of human life is also punishable. Suicide or aiding and abetting another person to commit suicide is not punishable under the new code."

PROTECTION OF CHILDREN

The chapter "Protection of Children" declares that the most valuable asset of the nation is the child. Therefore, incitement to restrict the number of children in the family is punishable. (Continued on Page 5)

JAPANESE CITIZENS STABBED

INCIDENTS IN CHAPEI AND CHANGSHA

BLUEJACKETS CONDUCT SEARCH OF LOCALITY AFFECTED

(From A Special Correspondent)

Canton, To-day.

Following the stabbing of a Japanese resident in his own residence at Changsha, the capital of Hunan Province, on Tuesday, it is now reported that a Japanese bookseller was stabbed by an unidentified person in Chapei, Shanghai, last night. Immediately after the incident, a large number of the Japanese bluejackets rushed to search the place where the incident occurred. As for the Changsha incident, it is learned that it will be localised.

Mr. Chang Chun, the Chinese Minister of Foreign Affairs, went to Shanghai yesterday to pay his tribute to the late Marshal Tuen Chi-jui. In an interview, Mr. Chang stated that the Sino-Japanese negotiations are making no progress, and that there is still a wide divergence of views between the Chinese and Japanese Governments. He added that the date for his seventh meeting with Mr. S. Kawagoe, the Japanese Ambassador to China, has not yet been fixed.

The view is expressed in Japanese circles that the last two military conferences in Sian and Loyang, held by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, will hinder the settlement of the North China questions.

The Executive Yuan has announced that the late Marshal Tuen Chi-jui will be accorded a State funeral by the Central Government.

CLEARING THE AIR. Shanghai: The delay in the arrangement of the seventh meeting between Mr. Chang Chun and Mr. Kawagoe is mystifying Chinese political circles, who expected that the interview would follow immediately after the latter's return from Tokyo. Officials of the Japanese Embassy office at Nan-king conferred with Mr. Kawagoe daily this week, but hitherto the result of the conferences has not been indicated.

A Chinese journal says that the North China issue and the proposed anti-communist pact will be shelved temporarily in order that a measure of agreement on minor points may be attained. Japanese circles point out that this would mean that Japan was prepared to drop the proposals on those matters, but it would indicate a change in the method of approach. It is felt that agreement at some points at least would serve to clear the air and produce an atmosphere more conducive to a settlement of the more vital issues. — Reuter.

CONSCRIPTION IN KWANGTUNG

Enlistments To Last One Year

Canton, To-day.

General Yu Hon-mow, Pacification Commissioner for Kwangtung, has announced the regulations concerning conscription for the second period. It is learned that from two to four persons will be enlisted from each village in the whole province, the total number of persons thus drafted being about 20,000. The period of enlistment is one year, and they will be treated as regular troops during that time. — From a Special Correspondent.

KEEN RACING OVER SPRINT DISTANCES EXPECTED TO-MORROW

UNORTHODOX IDEAS NEEDED IN RUGBY METHODS WHICH MIGHT BEAT WING FORWARDS WHY NOT DO AWAY WITH LINE-OUTS?

(By Howard Marshall)

London, October 14.

RUMINATING, in my elderly way, upon that excellent game between Blackheath and Newport, it occurred to me that here was a typical exposition of modern Rugby football. Not a single try scored by a wing going bald-headed for the line after orthodox passing.

Plenty of tries scored by forwards, by individual opportunism, by cleverly placed kicking. No scrummaging in the old-fashioned sense—no wheeling, that is to say, or straight shoving, and not a great deal of really fast heeling. Any amount of swift forward work in the open, and a general smash-and-grab spirit developed very highly. And all of it most attractive to watch, and doubtless most amusing to play.

Blackheath won because their forwards were quicker on the ball, and very satisfactory it was to see the fire and dash of the Blackheath pack. Newport, for all that, showed us a more deliberate application of modern strategy, with the diagonal kick from midfield and the cross-kick from the wing as their main weapons. Their constant aim was to switch the direction of attack unexpectedly, and in this their principles were sound.

My only criticism is that they did not carry their strategy far enough, and this is a criticism of the modern game as a whole. It is a commonplace to say that the back-row forward has so closed up defence that orthodox attack is unprofitable, but I have yet to see a team exploiting the unorthodox with practised thoroughness.

SUSPENSION OF LEWIS
NOT RECOGNISED

Bridgeport, Connecticut, To-day.

The National Boxing Association of the United States has decided to request the British Boxing Board of Control to uphold the suspension of John Henry Lewis, the Negro holder of the world light-heavyweight championship title, who is scheduled to meet Len Harvey, the Wembley Stadium matchmaker and challenger, next Monday night at Wembley Pool.

The secretary of the British Boxing Board of Control stated that he has received a cable from the National Boxing Association, but has refused to reveal its contents. He stated, however, that he would not interfere with the Lewis-Harvey world title fight which will take place next Monday night at the Wembley Pool.

Edward Foster, secretary of the National Boxing Association of the United States, told Reuters' correspondent that he had called the British Boxing Board of Control notifying them of the suspension of John Henry Lewis and that in no case must he fight until the suspension is lifted.

Foster said that no doubt the British Boxing Board of Control would agree, but Reuters understands from the British Boxing Board of Control that next Monday's fight will go on in any case.

REQUEST REFUSED
Foster told Reuters in an interview that the National Boxing Association were prepared to lift the suspension on Lewis if the latter promised to give the District of Columbia promoters first call on his services on his return to America.

In an exclusive interview with Reuters, Edward Foster said he was surprised at the British Boxing Board of Control's attitude, as this was the first time the British authorities had ever refused to honour the suspensions ordered by the National Boxing Association.—Reuters.

LADIES' HOCKEY STARTS TO-MORROW

CAER CLARK AND BRAUN CUP LEAGUE ENCOUNTERS

(By "STICKS")

The Caer Clark Cup and Braun Cup Ladies' senior and junior hockey leagues will commence to-morrow afternoon with two matches in each division, all of which will be played in Kowloon.

The Central British Association Ladies, winners of the Caer Clark Cup, will not be seen in action this week-end, but the "Y" Ladies, who look like the probable champions this season, encounter the St. Andrew's Ladies at King's Park in what will probably be the best senior match of the day.

In the remaining encounter the H. K. Ladies should beat the Recreation Ladies comfortably. In the Junior League, the Central British Schoolgirls' "A" team, who are one of the strongest teams in the Division, should easily account for the Hong Kong Ladies on the new school ground, while in the remaining match the "Y" Ladies should beat the Diocesan Girls' School.

TO-morrow's Fixtures

The following is to-morrow's programme.

CAER CLARK CUP LEAGUE
Recreation v H.K. Ladies (P.T.S. ground, 2.45 p.m.)
St. Andrew's Ladies v "Y" Ladies ("Y" ground, 2.45 p.m.)

BRAUN CUP LEAGUE
C.B.S. "A" v H.K. Ladies (C.B.S. ground, 3.15 p.m.)
D. G. S. v "Y" Ladies (D.G.S. ground, 3.30 p.m.)

"Y" LADIES TEAMS
The following have been selected to represent the "Y" Ladies against the St. Andrew's Ladies in the Caer Clark Cup and the Diocesan Girls' School in the Braun Cup League.

First Team: Miss W. George, Mrs. Burke and Miss A. Fowler (Captain); Miss J. Lakeman, Miss E. Thomson and Mrs. Stanbury; Miss O. Dalziel, Miss S. Dalziel, Mrs. Read, Miss M. Smith and Miss M. Westcott.

DERBY WINNER

(By "RAPIER")

FOR the Tenth Extra Race Meeting, to be held at the Valley to-morrow, an attractive programme of eight races has been arranged by the Hong Kong Jockey Club, the majority of which are sprint events.

The track should again be fiery, and keen racing may be expected, with fast times being recorded. I am glad to be able to state that Mr. L. G. Frost has now fully recovered from his recent indisposition, and will be seen in action again. Mr. Norman Deitz has benefitted from his short holiday and he will also ride again, but I regret to say that Mr. H. M. Pih has returned to Shanghai.

I understand that Mr. H. P. Chanson, who has had considerable experience in riding in Shanghai, is at present in the Colony on holiday. He will probably be given some mounts to-morrow.

Surrey Handicap—One Mile
In this race confined to "A" Class China ponies, I expect to see a close finish. As a result of winning the October Handicap at the previous meeting, Soldier of Britain (Mr. H. C. Pih) has been penalised by no less than 12 lbs., which seems rather excessive. It has to give King's Warden (Mr. G. U. da Rosa) an advantage of 2 lbs.

Soldier of Britain is exceptionally fit at the moment, however, so that the additional burden in weight may not prove too severe a handicap, especially in view of the shorter distance. It will, however, be recalled that King's Warden had to withdraw from the same race at the last meeting due to a slight injury, from which I (Continued on Page 3)

US.R.C. PAIRS TRIUMPH IN MIXED DOUBLES

Colony Championship

Matches

GRAY AND MISS MACKENZIE

LOSE ADVANTAGE

Three matches in the First Round of the Colony Mixed Doubles Lawn Tennis Championship were played at the Kowloon Cricket Club yesterday, resulting in two wins for U.S.R.C. pairs, A. L. Sullivan and Mrs. Dowling, and Capt. Milne and Mrs. Ashton entering the Second Round.

A very keen encounter was witnessed between A. L. Sullivan and Mrs. W. E. B. Dowling and S. A. Gray and Miss A. Mackenzie, the former (U.S.R.C.) pair taking the first set at 6-4, losing the second, when Gray dominated the exchanges, and then rallying brilliantly to take the final set at 6-3.

Miss Mackenzie lacked sting in her shots, while her service, which is usually her strong point, was very weak.

The final set saw Mrs. Dowling sending over some excellent fore and backhand drives, although she was weak in her volleying. Sullivan was much cooler than usual and made few mistakes, while Gray and his partner slackened off considerably in this set, Miss Mackenzie throwing away countless points with very indifferent shots.

Minor Upset
Capt. G. Milne and Mrs. Ashton caused quite an upset when they disposed of F. Grose and Miss R. Perry in three sets, the latter couple, following the loss of the first set, never looking like winners. Milne's volleying was his strong point and he was more certain than usual in his forehand driving.

In the remaining encounter E. C. (Teddy) Fincher and Mrs. Peacock had no difficulty in disposing of Capt. W. J. E. Cragg and Mrs. J. P. Whiteman in straight sets, winning by 6-2, 7-5.

Yesterday's Results
Full scores of yesterday's matches were:—
A. L. Sullivan and Mrs. W. E. B. Dowling (U.S.R.C.) beat S. A. Gray and Miss A. Mackenzie (K.C.C.) 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Capt. G. Milne and Mrs. Ashton (U.S.R.C.) beat F. Grose and Miss R. Perry (K.C.C.) 7-5, 7-8, 6-2.

E. C. Fincher and Mrs. Peacock beat Capt. Cragg and Mrs. J. P. Whiteman (U.S.R.C.) 6-2, 7-5.

WARWICKSHIRE WIN

Versatile Athlete

P. SOUZA, was born in Goa, Portuguese India, and was educated at St. Joseph's College, Calcutta, where he first took up hockey, football and cricket.

He represented the College second eleven at hockey and soccer for six years and also played cricket for Club Lusitano. Souza did not restrict his sporting activities solely to the above sports, as he was also interested in athletics, representing his College in the Inter-School Sports meeting, when he won the High Jump.

He arrived in Hong Kong during the 1922-23 season and played cricket in the same year for Club de Recreio's second eleven. The following year he resumed his soccer activities and represented the Portuguese club in the First Division of the local League until 1931, playing on the left-wing.

In the 1932-33 season he joined the Incognitos' Hockey Club and was in the team which won the Mamak Hockey Tournament. Last year he joined the Kowloon Indians' Tennis Club and was a member of the Hong Kong Citizens' team which beat the visiting Shanghai German Club side. He has also represented Portugal in the local international tournament.

This past season he played for the Kowloon Indians' Tennis Club in the "D" Division of the Lawn Tennis League.

Medicals Beat Ordnance
At The Valley

The R.A.O.C. were defeated by 3 goals to 1 by the R.A.M.C. in the Small Units Football League at the Valley yesterday.

Harrison, who led the Medicals' attack, scored the first goal during the first-half, and added the second in the latter stages, this being followed by a third from Flint, who played on the right-wing.

Allen, the Medicals' goalkeeper, was forced to leave the field for about 15 minutes soon after the commencement of the match owing to a knee injury.

Owing to the resultant slowness in his movements, however, Waters, the losers' centre-forward, beat him to net their only goal.

R.E. INTER-SECTION FOOTBALL

No. 3 Section Trounce Services

In the Royal Engineers' inter-section football League game at Sookunpoo yesterday, No. 3 Section beat the Services Section by four clear goals.

Hurst, the No. 3 section pivot, was a fine spoiler while Banfield, in goal, dealt confidently with all shots.

In the losers' goal, Isley brought off some good saves, while in the intermediate line Morgan was good.

No. 3 section registered their first goal through Taylor and soon after Tibbs increased the lead. In the second half Parker and Taylor scored.

HARROW THE BEST LONDON RUGBY SCHOOL

JOHN HENRY LEWIS LOOKS ROUND

HIS VERDICT ON LONDON
—"YAAS, I'LL LIKE IT O.K."

THE PIGEONS TICKLED HIM MOST

London, October 13.

JOHN HENRY LEWIS and the sun got up together to-day, and by the time I arrived at his training quarters, the Barn Club on the Barnet by-pass, he had finished work for the day. "Where's John?" I asked Harry Fruehchtemeyer, his genial manager, and Harry, neatly twisting a cheroot to the other corner of his face, guessed that the boy would be playing.

I had quick visions of baseball, rugger or maybe golf as part of the training regime, but no. John Henry Lewis, six-foot negro holder of the world's light-heavy-weight boxing championship, was quietly strumming away at a piano. He's a grand fellow. Not a ha'porth of side, even though he has made $60,000 in the last five years. He dresses neatly and quietly, speaks well and seldom, but misses nothing of what is going on.

A thoroughly intelligent fellow is John Henry Lewis, which, maybe, is why he is such a good fighter. He meets Len Harvey at Wembley on November 9 to defend his world title. I suggested a trip to town to see the sights, and he thought the idea swell.

Cheroot-loving Harry agreed that was O.K. by him, so when John Henry had found his mighty overcoat, a regular polar affair, we set off, collecting trainer Larry Amadee on the way.

I should have loved to have taken the two sparring partners, Honeyboy Jones and Red Bruce, with us, but for them table tennis was a greater attraction than London.

On The "Wrong" Side

John Henry got himself well down in the back seat so that he couldn't see the car go by. "Say, how you folks get along driving on the wrong side of the road I just don't know." But we did. In Trafalgar-square I told John all about Admiral Nelson up there on his column, the greatest admiral we ever had, I said.

"So what?" asked John. Regrettably, the exploits of Nelson meant nothing to him. At the thought of fighting he brightened. "An' who did he fight?"

That it was only the combined navies of France and Spain was disappointing. His interest lapsed. But the pigeons made up for everything. Presenting John and Larry with lashings of maize I let them loose in Trafalgar-square and they enjoyed every minute of it. When a pigeon started eating out of his hat, John's delight knew no bounds.

"I'll say this is swell," he kept repeating. "Look at the little fellows. Say, can I buy these birds? I'd be tickled to take one back home."

The Thames: "Not So Bad"

Getting him away at last, we looked at London's smooth-flowing river, but fully realised that something was expected of him.

"Waal, I say it's not so bad for a little river," was his verdict. Buckingham Palace he thought "very beautiful" without being specially interested; Westminster Abbey pleased him far more.

"That's what I want to see, go all through that place. It's swell." I offered to guide him there and then. "No, sir, I'll be wanting lots of time," and all his gold-filled teeth showed in a spacious grin.

Big Ben Is Nothing New

John nearly put his neck out of joint craning to see the stone tracery of Victoria Tower as we passed the House of Lords. He thought that swell, too. He had heard all about Cromwell, whose statue is just round the corner, but surprisingly showed no interest at all in Big Ben.

"Hear that back home," was the reason for his indifference.

What really tickled his fancy was those swell little boxes, the red ones dotted all over town, learning they were telephones, he thought the idea grand, but had never realised, apparently, that you talk so much on the wire. John Henry Lewis's final verdict on London was: "Yaas, I'll like it O.K."

And that from him is high praise.

KING'S BOUNTY AND OLD STAR FOR THE DOUBLE

believe it has now fully recovered. Should an experienced jockey be given the mount on Gladiator, with only 140 lbs. to carry, I think it will prove a dangerous contender.

King's Warden should win, with Gladiator coming in second, and Soldier of Britain filling third place.

Nullah Nullah Handicap—6 Furlongs

Only four ponies among the "A" Class Australian griffins have entered for this race and, judging from past results, it should not be a difficult task to pick the winner. Bobniak Star (Mr. Ip Kui-yang) is my choice, as this pony ran very well to come in second to Electron in the Queensland Handicap at the previous meeting, and it is again very lightly treated in the weights.

Vixen Tor (Mr. B. A. Proulx) should come in second provided it gets away to a good start. Derby Day (Mr. S. C. Liang) should, however, not be entirely overlooked, as this pony is a demon speedster, but I am just afraid that it is only good for five furlongs. Australian Boy (Mr. Black) is the other entry.

Hong Kong Griffins Cup—1 1/4 Miles

This is undoubtedly the most interesting event of the day, but it is really a pity that Royal Scot has not been entered. I understand that the Harbord stable is reserving it for the forthcoming St. Leger. In the absence of Royal Scot, the race should resolve itself into a struggle for supremacy between Bear Claw and Honeymoon Eve, this year's Derby winner.

Bear Claw, which will be ridden to-morrow by Mr. Frost, won the Wyndham Handicap a fortnight ago over the same distance in almost effortless manner, and in view of its rapid improvement I feel confident that it will win again. Honeymoon Eve, which will have Mr. S. C. Liang as the pilot, is reputed to have just as good a chance of winning this main event, but Bear Claw will probably prove just a little too good. The third place should be filled by King's Lead (Mr. G. U. da Rosa).

Norfolk Handicap—Five Furlongs
In this sprint event confined to "D" Class China ponies Night View (Mr. Y. T. Fung) has been allotted top weight. It will probably find the distance too short, and should be left out of the reckoning.

For coming in second to Flyby-night at the previous meeting, Sylrandale (Mr. B. A. Proulx) has to carry 8 lbs. more, but this should not prevent it from winning. There is hardly any opposition, unless Mr. H. C. Pih. can get the last ounce out of The Hero over the last quarter. I expect Sylrandale to win, with The Hero second, and Gold Sovereign (Mr. G. U. da Rosa) third. For an outsider, look out for Mountain View

John Henry Lewis, above, has jeopardised his chances of defending his world light-heavy-weight boxing title against Len Harvey, the Wembley Stadium matchmaker and his opponent next Monday evening, as a result of being suspended by the 32 boxing State Commissioners of America for failing to fulfill a bout about 15 days ago.

(Mr. S. Y. Liang) with only 145 lbs. to carry.

Kent Handicap—Six Furlongs

This is the first leg of the "Daily Double," and, ridden by Novice Jockeys, it will be no easy problem to spot the winner. The obvious choice seems to be King's Bounty, which will be ridden by its owner, Mr. K. W. Fung, but it has to be remembered that it has been penalised 7 lbs. for coming in second to Harvest View in the Connaught Handicap at the Ninth Extra Race Meeting. Nevertheless, I think King's Bounty should just about win, with Valorous (Mr. W. G. Poy) second, and Jungle Jim (Mr. Choy Wing-chiu) third. Great Hall, with only 140 lbs. to carry, looks tempting, and What A Chance, with similar poundage, should not be neglected.

I understand that Mr. Black has been booked to ride Honey in this race confined to "B" Class Australian ponies, in which case I concede it a fighting chance of carrying off the major honour. Honey is very fast over a short distance and with such an experienced jockey in the saddle it should just about win. Perfect Day (Mr. S. C. Liang) is also quite capable of winning, but I am inclined to believe that Snowy River will find the distance too short. Double Finesse has come down in weight and will be ridden by Mr. H. C. Pih. It should at least be placed.

Sussex Handicap—Seven Furlongs

For this second leg of the "Daily Double," I am going to nominate Old Star, which will be ridden by Mr. Ip Kui-yang, to win. This pony is very fit just now, and I think it is due for a win. In the Paddock Handicap at the previous meeting, Old Star, carrying 160 lbs. was only just beaten for a place. Balios (Mr. S. C. Liang) won a race last Sunday at Macau, and will accordingly demand strong support. Cassius (Mr. B. A. Proulx) and Shamrock (Mr. D. Black) should provide a keen struggle for the minor positions.

Suffolk Handicap—Five Furlongs
In this race for "D" Class China ponies, a careful scrutiny of the draw for positions is clearly advisable, as getting off to a good start in such a short event makes the difference between winning and losing. Mr. Proulx has been asked to take the mount on Zero, and in view of his ability to secure a good start, coupled with Zero's speed, I fancy this combination to win. Diogenes (Mr. Black) should come in second, and I think that Copper Idol will place third. Pride of Tsingtau (Mr. M. Wood) is not to be despised, and it may yet cause a surprise when least expected. Burgomaster (Mr. W. H. S. Davis) won a race last Sunday at Macau, and will probably find some support.

BEDFORD COMMENCE SEASON WELL

CLIFTON HOLD LOCAL TEAM

London, October 14.

BEDFORD have again started off their programme of school matches in convincing fashion, the 14 points to 0 defeat of Dulwich being thoroughly merited in every way.

Dulwich made a good fight up to half-time, as expected in view of the numerous old colours in the side against the three of Bedford. When the teams crossed over with no score recorded a desperate finish seemed probable.

But the first half had apparently taken too much out of the visitors, who relaxed, and Bedford, seizing their chances, piled on the points. Frankly, Bedford were in better training than Dulwich, who were only superior in physique.

The result came as a big disappointment to many Dulwich supporters who made the journey to Bedford. Another year may elapse before Dulwich turn out a really good side.

Harrow's Lively Pack

Harrow may once again prove to be the best of the London schools at Rugby. As usual, they possess a lively pack which believes in "getting on with it." Had the Harrow backs passed a little better they would have beaten Mill Hill, despite the latter's good tackling, by more than 22 points.

R. G. Smith-Cunningham, a fast wing, scored three of Harrow's tries, while his centre, W. P. Lithgow, got two and C. A. Halliday the other. C. Powell-Cotton and W. C. Stewart each kicked a goal.

Ragged Passing

Mill Hill had previously lost 0-9 to St. Paul's, whose heavy forwards and smart scrum half, R. D. Treble, gave their backs plenty of the ball. R. H. Yeatman, at stand off, and the centres tried to do too much on their own, and the passing was ragged.

Clifton, who are at home to Blundell's on Saturday, made a fine show against the local club team, who, of course, had the weight in the scrum and so got more of the ball. But the boys defended well and held the club down to 11-3.

Cheltenham, a young and inexperienced side, fared rather badly against Richmond (A). It is pleasing to note, however, that when their "stage fright" passed the boys improved.

Westminster's Fine Win

Haileybury, too, showed excellent promise in the second half against the London Scottish (A). P. R. B. Mitchell, who played a fine game for the school, is a useful heavy-weight boxer and one of the best forwards at the schools. He is one of the few members of last year's England P.S. team against the Scottish still at school.

At Soccer, Westminster recorded a capital first victory over the Old Bradfieldians by three goals to two. J. C. S. Doll, the school's centre-forward, made the opening for D. F. Cunliffe to score the first goal.

After the interval Cunliffe got another goal, and S. W. Woodbridge added a third. The Bradfieldians had the misfortune to lose a half-back shortly before half-time.

TO-DAY'S HOCKEY MATCH

The following will represent the Hong Kong Hockey Club against the K.I.T.C. on the Club ground, King's Park, to-day, commencing at 5.10 p.m. sharp:—Van der Waal; Woodhall and Ray; Sommer, Wallace and Woodhouse; Peach, Starbuck, Way, Taylor and Tamworth.

SAPPERS TROUCE R. A. AT HOCKEY

After holding the Royal Engineers to only one goal, scored by Claxton, in the first period, the 5th Brigade, Royal Artillery, collapsed badly in the second half of their friendly hockey encounter at Sookinpo yesterday losing by five clear goals. Woolgar (3), Claxton (2) and Corner scored for the winners.

Strengthening The Ties

If it were not already generally recognised that the future prosperity of Canton, no less than that of Hong Kong, is bound up in the need for close and cordial relations between the two places, the exchange of visits of important people in the two centres now in process of being completed would surely be sufficient to bring the point home to those afflicted with myopic tendencies. Because there can be no shadow of doubt about the official ideas on the subject. His Excellency the Governor has paid a quasi-formal visit to Canton, being received and entertained there with every semblance of cordiality. Whether his visit was designed officially to cement the cordial relations evident between the Southern capital and the Colony or not—and there is no reason to suppose that it was not—in point of fact the authorities at Canton did everything they could to show him honour as the official representative of this Colony. That hospitality the Governor and people of the Colony are now returning. The reception of our Chinese visitors has been enthusiastic and dignified; all circles, official and non-official, from His Excellency downwards, have collaborated in making the welcome as representative as possible. The British and Chinese business communities have played their respective parts in the welcome and everything possible has been done to show that the exchange of visits is considered supremely important by all sections of both communities.

It can hardly be denied that this is as it should be. There is no need to go over again all the arguments about it and about. They have been reiterated by far more worthy pens than ours. Suffice it to say that the need for co-operation is generally recognised. His Honour the Mayor of Canton crossed the T's and dotted the I's of the point with his timely references to the possibilities of the future when he said at the Government House dinner: "For the restoration of the prosperity of our city we are embarking upon a gigantic programme of economic reconstruction, and in this connection we require foreign assistance given in a spirit of absolute friendliness. We shall welcome foreign investments and co-operation, particularly from Hong Kong, our close neighbour." The implications of that invitation are unmistakable. It is an invitation to business interests in this Colony to do themselves and our Chinese neighbours an equal amount of good by extending that assistance in a spirit of absolute friendliness, and there is absolutely no reason to suppose that it will be ignored. Big business will probably be attracted by the possibilities of profit, and the Chinese, who form 97 per cent. of the population of this Colony will with equal enthusiasm, we feel sure, welcome the closer cultural relations, with the capital of Kwangtung which a closer comingling of business interests between the two places will represent. In short, the exchange of visits has further widened the way for closer affinities between the two places, and by their friendliness and cordiality, has given them a flying start. The communities concerned in both places must now do the rest.

TWO REGISTRY WEDDINGS

Bergaust — Larssen

RELIGIOUS CEREMONY THIS AFTERNOON

Two weddings took place at the Registry, Supreme Court, this morning, one of them being of particular interest to the local Norwegian community, namely, that between Mr. Marius Bergaust, residing at the Hong Kong Hotel, and Miss Aasta Larssen, daughter of Mr. Karsen Larssen, the Norwegian Consul.

The witnesses at the Registry ceremony, which was taken by Mr. T. S. Whyte-Smith, were Mrs. L. Stanton and Mr. B. Naes. There will be a religious ceremony at the Peak Church this afternoon at 4 p.m.; this to be followed by a reception at the Hong Kong Hotel.

Manila Couple
Mr. Gordon Snyder, of Manila, was married to Miss Ramona Guevara this morning, Mr. W. J. Lockhart-Smith officiating. The couple arrived at the Registry with only one witness, Mrs. E. D. Balmaseda, and Mr. N. B. Whitley, who is on the staff of the Supreme Court, acted as the second witness. It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Snyder are returning to Manila almost immediately.

OBITUARY

Sir Arthur Keysall Yapp

PROMINENT IN Y.M.C.A. MOVEMENT

London, To-day.

Sir Arthur (Keysall) Yapp, K.B.E., former National Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association and Deputy President since 1929, collapsed and died in his motor-car yesterday, after leaving the Working Y.M.C.A. — Reuter.

His Honour the Chief Justice, Sir Athol MacGregor, sailed for Shanghai to-day by the s.s. Tamsa in order to attend the Full Court of Appeal.

THE HUMAN ASPECT OF A MUI TSAI INCURABLE SHOCK TO A CHILD

DEPRIVED OF AFFECTION AND LAUGHTER

Condensed from "The New Culture in China," by Professor Lancelot Forster, of the University of Hong Kong. Published by Allen and Unwin (7s. 6d.).

It is not that these slave girls are necessarily ill-nourished, ill-clad or physically below the level of their sisters, but that they stand apart, distinguished from their fellows by their utterly cow-like expression, as though they were strangers to the people among whom they moved.

They are lifeless and hopeless because they are deprived of the most valuable ingredients of life—family affection and protection, friendship and laughter. Such things are the vitamins that animate and give spark and meaning to humanity. The girl sinks below the human level who is deprived of these spiritual and social elements which are the birthright of every individual. Inevitably life is withdrawn, just as surely as the plant shrivels up if it is not nourished by sunlight and air.

The sale of the girl by the parents is in itself such a shock to the child's self-respect that it utterly destroys for ever all feeling of individual worthwhileness and self-confidence. The foundation on which the child's personality is to be reared is thus swept away. The stimulus to moral and spiritual growth having been subtracted, the whole development of the child as a human being is arrested.

Loss Of A Home

Love, trust, and hope, and the general home atmosphere are essential to a normal child who strives always to respond to the ideal which affectionate parents hold before her. Adequate food and sufficient clothing, even if they are forthcoming, are not compensation enough for the loss of these spiritual forces. It is only because we are prone to think, in terms of the material that we can, for a moment, be deceived into believing that life on such terms as even the best treated slave girls holds it, is worth while.

The ricksha coolies, the boat people, and such folk in China, whose lives are certainly hard enough, enjoy greater happiness in the course of their day's work than these slave girls can possibly have in the whole of their slave existence.

The justification put forward for this system is that of economic pressure; there being too many mouths for the limited supply of rice, the obvious solution of the problem is to reduce the number of mouths when the quantity of rice cannot by any means be increased.

Boys Are Not Sold!

This argument would be convincing and irresistible if it was ever invoked when a boy was concerned, but it is never, or practically never, the case that a boy has to be sold or given away because there is insufficient food. In times of famine a boy may be sold, become a beggar, or be handed over to the monks, but not in normal circumstances. The plane of living would be depressed still further in order to keep the boys, for the integrity, permanence, and continuity of the family depend on the male issue.

That is a matter of supreme importance, and it is this sacred unit that must be preserved; but as the girl is not essential to the family in which she is born, but is destined in ordinary conditions to be attached to another family, her hold and her claims on her own family are much weaker than those of her brothers, and therefore she is the first to be sacrificed when the family structure is endangered.

But if the special needs of the poor family mean the sacrifice of the girl, the peculiar nature of the same family system makes her welcome in the capacity of a slave in the wealthier household, for the problem of domestic service can only be solved, or rather has only been solved, by creating a class that has only duties and no rights.

FRAUDULENT CONVERSION

Defendant Admits Charges

Joseph Charles Gardner, unemployed, who was charged at the Central Magistracy on Wednesday with fraudulently converting to his own use $154.60, the money of the Union Insurance Society of Canton, again appeared on remand before Mr. K. Keen this morning.

Mr. W. A. MacKinnon of Messrs Deacons was for the complainant firm, and the police were represented by Chief Detective Inspector J. Murphy, who said that the prosecution could prove the fraudulent conversion of over $2,000 on about 40 different charges.

The defendant admitted the charges and the case was adjourned for a week, for the decision as to whether it should be dealt with summarily.

SHIP'S OFFICER INJURED

Fall From Deck Into Bunker

An accident occurred on board the s.s. Cape St. Francis at one o'clock this morning, when Second Officer J. S. Kirkpatrick, while walking on deck, fell down a bunker.

He was immediately conveyed to the Kowloon Hospital in a serious condition.

Enquiries made at the hospital just before our going to press resulted in the information that Mr. Kirkpatrick's condition was "fair."

MASONIC APRON AND SASH

Found In Possession Of Chinese

A Shanghai Chinese was arrested in Garden Road near the Lower Peak Tram Station at 7.15 a.m. to-day with a masonic apron and wash in his possession.

As the man could not give a satisfactory explanation as to where and how he obtained these articles, the police believe that he must have stolen them.

The owner of the articles may apply for them at the Central Police Headquarters.

Reports Of Arrest Baseless

MR. GRICE-HUTCHISON AT GIBRALTAR

Gibraltar. To-day. Mr. Grice-Hutchison has arrived from Malaga in his yacht Honey-bee. The report that he had been arrested at Malaga was apparently baseless. — Reuter.

An earlier message said that a modern "Scarlet Pimpernel" who rescued at least 50 men, women and children from Spain, was reported to have been arrested by the Communists at Malaga. He was an Englishman named Grice-Hutchison, who exploited the transporting of prisoners in a tiny S-ton yacht, the Honey-bee, from Malaga to Gibraltar.

He became almost legendary. His modus operandi was to land at dusk, make for the nearest prison and haggle with the guards, who eventually discreetly turned their backs while the prisoners were hurried to the yacht.

Mr. Grice-Hutchison was a lawyer at Malaga for 10 years before the revolution, and many insurgent sympathisers were his personal friends. When the insurgents began bombing Malaga many of them were imprisoned and some killed as a reprisal, so Mr. Grice-Hutchison used his influence with the authorities and managed to get passes to convey a number of friends to Gibraltar.

EUROPEAN SETTLEMENT Britain intended to take the lead to secure a European settlement, but no such settlement was possible unless Britain possessed strength, both of purpose and of arms. Britain's re-equipment must be all-embracing, but there would never be an enduring peace without an arms agreement.

Some nations were beginning to sacrifice their standard of living to their standard of armament. The stronger Britain was the greater was the certainty of peace.

Three elements in the Government's programme were the strengthening of the League's authority, the negotiation of a European settlement, and the re-equipment of Britain's defences.

Far East Position

CHINESE RELATIONS WITH JAPAN

Turning to the Far East Mr. Eden said that Sino-Japanese relations were such not long ago as to give rise to anxiety, but he was happy to say that there had been definite indications lately of a distinct easing of the tension. Discussions had been proceeding at Nanking on outstanding questions and there appeared to be ground for hoping that a revival of the former tense situation would be avoided.

The Government earnestly trusted that that would be the case, and that a solution would be reached, placing Sino-Japanese relations on a stable and friendly footing.

Winston Churchill's Speech

BRITAIN'S LAST CHANCE

Expressing the opinion that the next 12 or 18 months might see Britain's last chance of averting a European conflict or a world war, Mr. Winston Churchill (C. Epping) urged Britain to stand by the League of Nations and try to bring within it the largest number of peace-seeking but well-armed nations to overawe a potential aggressor. He suggested that Germany, if she feared Soviet aggression, should enter the League and then all Europe would guarantee "to assist" Germany against Russian aggression.

If the exertions of Britain were not supported proportionately by others and collective security was shown to be a fraud, the League was an idle dream, and then Britain and France together would be very dangerous to attack.

Mr. Churchill suggested that the naval Powers in the Mediterranean might reciprocally agree ed out that social considerations played an important role in the new code, the personality of the perpetrator of a criminal offence, his social position and the services he had rendered to the nation being considered. A distinction between rich and poor is to be made in imposing fines, these to be based on the average daily income of the culprit.

HONOUR OF THE NATION An important chapter of the new code is the protection of the honour of the individual and the nation. Defamation and slandering of the German Chancellor is considered defamation of the German nation, and is therefore liable to heavy punishment. Debasement of the National-Socialist Party, the Reich, the Army and labour service are likewise regarded as a crime, as well as degrading the achievements of the German armies and the heroic deaths of German soldiers. Historic personalities, such as Hindenburg, Schlegel (who was executed by the French during the Ruhr occupation), Horst Wessel (the young National-Socialist who was murdered by Communists prior to Herr Hitler's advent to power) are likewise protected.

Although bound by the clauses of the code, judges will enjoy considerable freedom under the new code, which is elastic insofar as it makes a distinction between minor and major cases.—Trans-Ocean Service.

CONGRATULATIONS to every man and woman whose teeth are still perfect whose hair is still healthy whose nerves are still steady whose vitality is still buoyant

They've escaped the most common complaint of civilized people—a shortage of minerals in the body. Teeth were meant to last a lifetime, hair to retain its colour and luxuriance, and the heart and nervous system should give carefree service for three-score years and ten.

But teeth, hair, nerves and muscles depend for well-being on the millions of cells of which the body is made up. These cells must have plenty of minerals to keep them strong; any shortage weakens them and you soon feel the effect in every organ of your body. Kalzana supplies the body with all the minerals it requires, in an easily absorbed form. Therefore, the effects of Kalzana are quickly felt in increased vitality, better appetite, soothed nerves. Soon the whole system is toned up. The teeth regain strength and hardness and decay is arrested. Radiant health returns—to stay. Start taking Kalzana without delay—give it to your children too.

"I am never without Kalzana, not taking them always, but at any time of extra strain, and when there are infections about. I find my resistance to disease and my general health marvellous."

Miss A. M. — Wolverhampton.

BAL MASQUE TO-NIGHT AT GLOUCESTER

Hong Kong Society To Be Present

One of the outstanding Balls of the season takes place to-night at The Gloucester Hotel, where Hong Kong Society will attend the Fancy Dress Bal Masque which commences at 8 p.m.

From table bookings it appears that a large proportion of the prominent people of the Colony will be present and it is naturally expected that many beautiful and original gowns will be worn by the women folk.

The whole range of well-known characters who lend themselves to imitation are to be represented; history too, will not go lacking, whilst the usual number of pirates and ray chorines will be present.

Prizes to be given for the most beautiful and most original Fancy Dresses are many and valuable. A further feature of the Ball is to be a floor show, when Messrs. Bill Simpson and Jack Grenham, the Tavares Sisters and members of the "Million Airmen Parade" Company are to give numbers, supported by Gellman's Gloucester Cossacks.

Some fifteen of Hong Kong's leading Society ladies have volunteered to act as Dance Hostesses; for those who go unattended they will provide an opportunity of taking part in this Ball. A novel idea has been introduced. Every programme bears a number, and at 12 o'clock, Mrs. S. H. Dodwell will draw twelve numbers. Those who hold the winning numbers win a valuable prize.

Table reservations can still be made at The Gloucester.

MALARIA INCREASING

Altogether 14,162 cases were treated by the St. John Ambulance New Territories Medical Benevolent Branch during October, this figure including 130 maternity cases and 5,062 new cases. Cheung Chau reports a comparatively large increase in malaria—about 28 per cent., while 110 cases of disease are reported from Kam Tin.

Scout Grand Camp Fire Display

The opportunity of witnessing the Camp Fire Display organised by the Hong Kong Branch of the Boy Scouts' Association to take place on Saturday, November 7, at 6.30 p.m. is one that should not be missed.

The Display, the first of its kind, will give an interesting insight into the Boy Scout Movement which, within a little over 25 years, has grown into a colossal organisation spreading to all corners of the world. More particularly, the public will see what Scouting is doing for young boys, youths and men in bringing them up as useful citizens and with a knowledge of useful crafts.

His Excellency the Governor, as Chief Scout for Hong Kong, will be present and the Band of the 1st Bn. Royal Ulster Rifles will render music.

Tickets at $5, $2, $1 and 50 cents are obtainable from members or from Headquarters, Lower Albert Road.

Shanghai-Hongkong Air Service

First Plane Arrives At Kai Tak

SIX PASSENGERS CARRIED

Greeted by dull weather on entering the coast-line in and near Hong Kong, the Douglas-Dolphin flying-boat of the China National Airways Corporation bearing the first Chinese airmail for the Colony, arrived at Kai Tak airport sharply at 2.45 p.m. yesterday afternoon, being greeted by a small gathering of prominent residents including His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, and the Hon. Commander G. F. Hole, R.N., Harbour Master and Director of Air Services.

His Excellency arrived at the airport shortly before 2.30 p.m. and was met on arrival by Hon. Comdr. Hole and Mr. A. J. R. Moss, Superintendent of the Civil Airport.

At 2.41 p.m. the flying-boat was sighted over Lyemun Pass making for the hanger and she swooped over two minutes later, circling the outskirts of the aerodrome before making a perfect landing in the sea at 2.45 p.m. After being tied up to the mooring buoy, the passengers, pilot and co-pilot left their conveyance by sampans and were rowed ashore, where they were greeted by the Governor and party on the slipway.

One of the first to land was Mr. Dai En-kai, Managing Director of China National Airways Corporation, who was warmly welcomed by His Excellency. Mr. H. M. Bixby, of Pan American Airways, who is also a Director of the C.N.A.C., and who was also a passenger, was next ashore, and he too was greeted by the Governor and party.

Other Passengers

The other passengers in the plane were Mr. T. M. Wong, a passenger for Hong Kong, Capt. A. R. Williamson, Marine Superintendent for Messrs. Jardine Matheson and Co., Ltd. in Shanghai, Mr. H. S. Van, and Mr. M. Roux, who is a Director of the Alkshania Works, Berlin, and who is en route to Batavia after having flown all the way from Osaka. He travelled from Osaka to Mukden, to Peiping, and then to Shanghai, where he caught the flying boat.

The flying-boat was piloted by Capt. C. G. Sellers, who is well known at the Kai Tak Airport and who has already been to the Colony by air. He was assisted by a co-pilot, Mr. Paul Chin.

Soon after the entire party had landed, the mail and freight was landed, the complete picture of "Piccadilly Jim," starring Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans, in two parcels, being handed over by the C.N.A.C. officials to Mr. B. Greenberg, local manager of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. This is the first time in the history of the cinema business in the Colony that an entire film has been transported from Shanghai to any southern city by air.

While preparations were being made for the flying-boat to continue her journey to the southern terminal, Canton, His Excellency, accompanied by Mr. Dai En-kai, Mr. Bixby and party, adjourned to the Airport waiting room, where a small informal and private cocktail party was held. His Excellency giving the toast, "The China National Airways Corporation," to which Mr. Dai En-kai suitably replied.

There was an absence of speeches from both His Excellency the Governor and Mr. Dai En-kai, although both made short statements for a Chinese talking film after the cocktail party.

Trip To Canton

The flying-boat took off at 3.20 p.m. for Canton, carrying three passengers from Hong Kong, namely Mr. T. F. Pollock and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Littig.

Mr. H. M. Bixby would make no statement when interviewed, stating that if any was made it should come from Mr. Dai En-kai, who would say nothing.

Mr. A. R. Williamson, Jardine's Marine Superintendent, who is in the Colony on business, said that they had all enjoyed a very fine trip and had had fine weather until entering the Hong Kong coastline, where they encountered clouds. The trip was an uneventful one, although occasional bumps were felt at Wenchow and Amoy. He is returning to Shanghai next week by a C.N.A.C. plane, probably on Wednesday.

One heavy bag of mail weighing about 10 kilos and 18 packages were carried on this trip from all ports north of Hong Kong.

Those Present

Among those present were His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott, attended by his A.D.C., Captain W. J. R. Cragg, Hon. Comdr. G. F. Hole, Harbour Master and Director of Air Services, Mr. W. C. Nixon, Director of Posts and Telegraphs at Canton, Mr. H. R. Butters, Postmaster-General, Mr. S. Randle, Superintendent of Mails, Mr. A. J. R. Moss, Superintendent of the Civil Airport, and Mrs. Moss, Mr. E. Nelson, Assistant Superintendent of the Civil Airport, Mr. P. W. Tai, Hong Kong Manager for C.N.A.C. Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson, Capt. B. W. Bateman, Marine Superintendent of Messrs. Jardine Matheson and Co., Ltd., Mr. B. Greenberg, local manager of Messrs. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Inc., Mr. L. G. Frost, Mr. E. O. Butler and Mr. M. Talon.

The Police arrangements were in the hands of Divisional Superintendent of Police, Mr. W. la B. Sparrow, assisted by Chief Inspector F. E. E. Booker and Inspector F. T. J. Portallion. The emergency unit were on duty in and near the aerodrome.

UNORTHODOX IDEAS NEEDED IN RUGBY

and running outwards, to give an inside pass to the wing, who has run diagonally in behind him, or the wing, after taking his usual pass from his centre, running inwards, drawing the defence with him, and passing out to the centre, who has sprinted towards the touch-line.

Direction Of Attack

Both these movements change the direction of attack unexpectedly, and both demand from wing and centre combined practice and understanding. With variations of this kind, and the punt ahead and the cross-kick, the wing has it in his power to set up successful attack and the policy of swift passing to the wing is justified.

It is most certainly not justified when the passing movement dies tamely on the touch-line, with no ground gained.

In the home counties the wing has always loomed large in our attacking theory. For years we worked on the principle of the over-lap, and now we are considering the possibilities of such changes of direction from the touch-line, with the proviso, as from the kick-off, that no goals should be allowed?

We must remember, though, that there is the diametrically opposed New Zealand theory of the break in the centre, which may either be successful in itself or pave the way to the over-lap by drawing the defence inwards. I hope to return to this extremely interesting point, with all its implications, in another article.

A Line-Out Suggestion

In the meanwhile some brief notes on general topics. Several readers have written to me about place-kicking, one to suggest that kickers should wear boots with square toe-caps, another to remark that insufficient use is made of the seam on the ball as a direction pointer. Yet another letter touches upon the line-out, and argues that "the line-out seems to waste a lot of time. Every other one seems to result in a scrum for knocking-on or not straight or some minor infringement. Why

Fine Feathers Do Not Always Make Fine Birds!

No matter how costly and attractive your clothes may be they will show to poor advantage if you are liverish and irritable, have a sallow, pimply skin, and dull, heavy eyes. Constipation is the most usual cause of these and other health troubles, so to look your best keep yourself clean internally. Pinkettes, the dainty little laxative pills, are designed expressly for this purpose. Taken when needed, Pinkettes gently assist nature to re-establish regular daily elimination, thus ensuring good health and a happy youthful appearance.

Pinkettes banish biliousness and sick headaches, aid digestion, tone up the liver, clear the skin, purify the breath, brighten the eyes, relieve piles. Obtainable from chemists everywhere, Pinkettes are laxative perfection.

not do away with the line-out altogether?"

Well, this suggestion has been made before, and I do not agree with it, though I have a proposal to make for your discussion. Instead of abolishing the line-out, why not increase the value of possession at the line-out by allowing the team whose touch it is to restart play by a pass straight out or back, or even by a drop-kick or punt in any direction from the touch-line, with the proviso, as from the kick-off, that no goals should be allowed?

A Restriction

The present method of restarting play only by throwing the ball in at right-angles to the touch-line is a restriction on the player's liberty. If this restriction were removed it would not only be a stimulus to quick thinking and tactical ingenuity, but it would do away with tame and unnecessary kicking to touch, since a team could not afford to give possession to its opponents without very good cause. Argue it out for yourselves, at any rate, and let me know what you think.

Talking of touch, incidentally, how good J. C. Wright, the Newport and England forward, was in this and other phases of the game. Wright is a better player now than when he was picked for England in 1934, and we may hear more of him this season.

THE HUMAN ASPECT OF A MUI TSAI

No Moral Problems

Such a class creates no social difficulty and none of those complex moral problems which sometimes throw the European household into a turmoil: as for example, when the daughter wants to marry the chauffeur or the son and heir the housemaid; for being of the despised group, and having no protection from an outside family, the slave girls can invoke no aid, but must be content with the treatment that is accorded them.

Thus the necessity for preserving the family continuity at the lower end of the scale creates a supply of slave girls, and that supply is absorbed by the needs of the family in the upper scale, which requires a type that does not create moral difficulties and at the same time does not subtract more than the smallest amount of wealth from the family to keep the body together—the soul does not enter into the question, for it is a beast of burden that is required and not a human being.

If the affection of the parents for a child is so low that it has in their eyes a money value at all, then it would seem to be a matter of indifference where the girlchild found herself, seeing she passes from a home where the ordinary attributes of humanity in parents are absent, to a home where as far as she is concerned they are almost certain to be absent, but there is a possibility that her services may be more generously rewarded in the way of food and clothing. That is the sole argument in favour of the system when carried out on the higher plane.

Excessive Greed

If the sum of $200 was not forthcoming, however, the child would not be given away, so it seems it is not so much the shortage of food as the excessive greed and rapacity of certain inhuman parents together with the meanness and commercial cunning of the purchasers who create this problem.

The point of view of the child is not considered. She is merely to be exploited to the limit of her powers. If she is well treated physically, that is merely good business; but one thing is certain —she is bound to be maimed in every other respect of her life.

The position of a girl of this class in China is particularly atrocious, for there is no organization outside the family to which she can attach herself, and where she can find a substitute for the parental affection that is missing.
In Europe there are numerous societies which throw a protective shield over the young person who is deprived temporarily or even permanently of a good home life, and, above all, there is the liberty to belong to such societies.

Obvious Abuses

The system lends itself obviously to so many abuses and responds to the lowest vices of those who engage in the traffic, pandering to greed on the one hand and to exploitation, aesthetic tendencies, and animal licence on the other, that no self-respecting community should tolerate the system for a moment.

An Englishwoman of the Church Missionary Society, who has worked among Chinese women for many years, has pointed out that there are different categories for slave girls. There are those who are pawed as it were,
by parents who are temporarily in

BRIDGE NOTES

Something Purely Psychological

By Ely Culbertson

I have received an interesting letter from a group of Philadelphia medical students who cheerfully refer to themselves as "four medical and contract dubs." I liked the line of their letter which said: "Although we have pronounced and independent views on most subjects in life, we still are willing to defer to superior knowledge in medicine and bridge."

They sent me the hand shown below, asking me to comment on the bidding and, more particularly, on the play of a grand slam contract. The great question is, as a glance at the cards will show, which way a finesse in a vital suit should be taken.

North, dealer.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding which actually took place was:

North East South West
2 S Pass 3 D Pass
5 D Pass 5 NT Pass
6 D Pass 7 D (final bid)

It was admitted by all parties, North included, that the opening two bid was pretty bad, so, outside of heartily agreeing with this view, I will make no further comment. But it does appear, since North must have realized that he had already "pressed" by opening with a forcing bid, that he could have exercised restraint on the next round and not jumped from three to five diamonds. South undoubtedly was justified in going to a grand slam with his excellent holding after North's terrific show of strength.

West created an immediate problem by opening the six of spades. And it was on this point that my correspondents asked a decision: Should declarer finesse immediately or not?

My answer was that it depended entirely on the bridge personality of the West player.
There were, of course, two distinct lines of play possible: one,
to finesse the queen of spades;
the other, to put up dummy's ace, draw trumps, play three rounds of clubs, on the last of which South could discard a spade; and then (still having a high trump entry left in dummy) play the queen of spades through East for a finesse against the king. I pointed out that against some opening leaders I would adopt the first plan; against others, the second. The only question to determine was whether West was the type of player to lead boldly away from a king into a bid suit, and if so, whether he had chosen this specific hand to do it. A difficult problem in psychology, I will admit, but certainly one that should appeal to medical students!

And lastly there are those who sell outright, giving up all claims and renouncing all rights; these parents will never see the child again—unless she becomes chronically diseased and therefore useless,

AT WASHINGTON

Washington, To-day.

It is understood that one of the President's first tasks after returning to the White House to-day will be to reshuffle the Cabinet. It is no secret that some tenants of high New Deal offices have not proved entirely satisfactory, while others desire to retire to private life of their own accord. It is believed that the Secretary of Commerce, Mr. Daniel C. Roper, and the Secretary of Labour, Miss Frances Perkins, intend to resign, the latter being replaced by the Under-Secretary, Mr. Edward F. McGrady, who has shown great ability in settling strikes.

Mr. James A. Farley, Postmaster-General, is understood to be desirous of returning to a high-salaried position in private business, but he would certainly retain the Democratic National Chairmanship after his triumphal organisation of President Roosevelt's victory.

The ill-health of the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Claude A. Swanson, indicates his withdrawal from office, while the acting Secretary for War, Gen. Harry H. Woodring, might be replaced by Mr. Paul McNutt, whose Governorship of Indiana expires at the end of the year.

Administration officials are already working on the programme to be recommended by President Roosevelt to Congress in January. The aim at present appears to be to fortify the New Deal by legislation as it now stands, rather than to make surprising departures, though, in Mr. Roosevelt's words, "there are a thousand and one things to do."

House Of Representatives
Democrats, 334, a majority of 233 compared with 191 in the last Congress.—Reuter.LABOUR RESTIVE
New York later: The final figures for the House of Representatives are: Democrats, 334; Republicans, 89; Progressives, 7; Farmer-Labour, 5.

The President's secretary informed pressmen that Mr. Roosevelt intends to leave on a sea trip on November 17 to visit an unspecified southern port. He would possibly extend the cruise to include a day's visit to Buenos Aires.

It is believed that the President will seek means of regulating hours and wages nationally without recourse to an amendment of the constitution. But if he is unable to do so Labour will demand a constitutional change. Members of the Left wing, flushed with victory, will not stand flinching with the problem. There is already talk in Washington of forcing through Congress a bill establishing a 31-hour week.—Reuter.

CAPITAL SHIPS
IN DEFENCE*Special Committee Reports

London, To-day.

The report has been made public of the sub-committee of the Committee of Imperial Defence appointed to enquire into the vulnerability of capital ships to air attack. The Committee declares that the day of capital ships is not over, and to cease to build them would lead to grave risks. The Committee dismisses the contention that air forces could take the place of capital ships in opposing the attack of enemy battleships on lighter naval forces engaged in the defence of territory or trade routes.

Valuable information has been obtained by experiment regarding the methods of construction to reduce damage done by the individual bomb and to localise its effects, and the Committee is satisfied that the lessons are being applied to ensure that capital ships are designed and built to give the maximum of immunity from air attack. The report emphasises that aircraft remain as vulnerable as ever to anti-aircraft fire, and the target they offer increases with their size.—British Wireless Service.

TELEVISION IN GERMANY

Bad Salmbrunn, To-day.—Television research has made such progress since the opening of the first station in Wittenberg, Berlin, that a second station is about to be inaugurated on the summit of the Brocken, the highest peak of the Harz Mountains. It is expected that the whole station will be in full swing by the Autumn of 1937.—Trans-Ocean Service.

WEATHER REPORT

The anti-cyclone is moving eastward and pressure is now highest over Japan and neighbouring seas. The depression is situated about 350 miles east-south-east of Manila, moving north-west. The local forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory this morning, was:—East winds; moderate; fair.

U.S. SHIPPING STRIKE*MOVEMENT STILL SPREADING*GRAVE APPREHENSION CAUSED

New York, To-day.

The striking maritime workers yesterday endeavoured to extend the already widespread ship blockade. Apprehension is felt in Washington lest the strike should interfere with the scheduled sailing to-morrow of the American delegation to the Buenos Aires peace conference aboard the Munson liner American Legion.

The immediate threat to San Francisco's food supply was removed when the striking warehousemen agreed to move perishable fruits and vegetables, but at Fairbanks, Alaska, the Chamber of Commerce asserts that the merchants have enough food for only 30 days.

At New Orleans the police have detained 56 seamen arrested during raids on strike pickets, and a drive against "Communism" has been ordered. At Galveston, Texas, 38 pickets were gaoled, and at Boston the striking seamen's leader was arrested on a warrant charging him with drunkenness.—Reuter.

CELEBRATING AN ANNIVERSARY*Some Slight Hitches
In Russia"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL Warsaw, To-day.

The preparations for celebrating the anniversary of the Red revolution in Russia are not progressing without considerable friction, and many of those in charge reveal distinctly capitalistic tendencies in misusing and embezzling funds provided for the purpose.

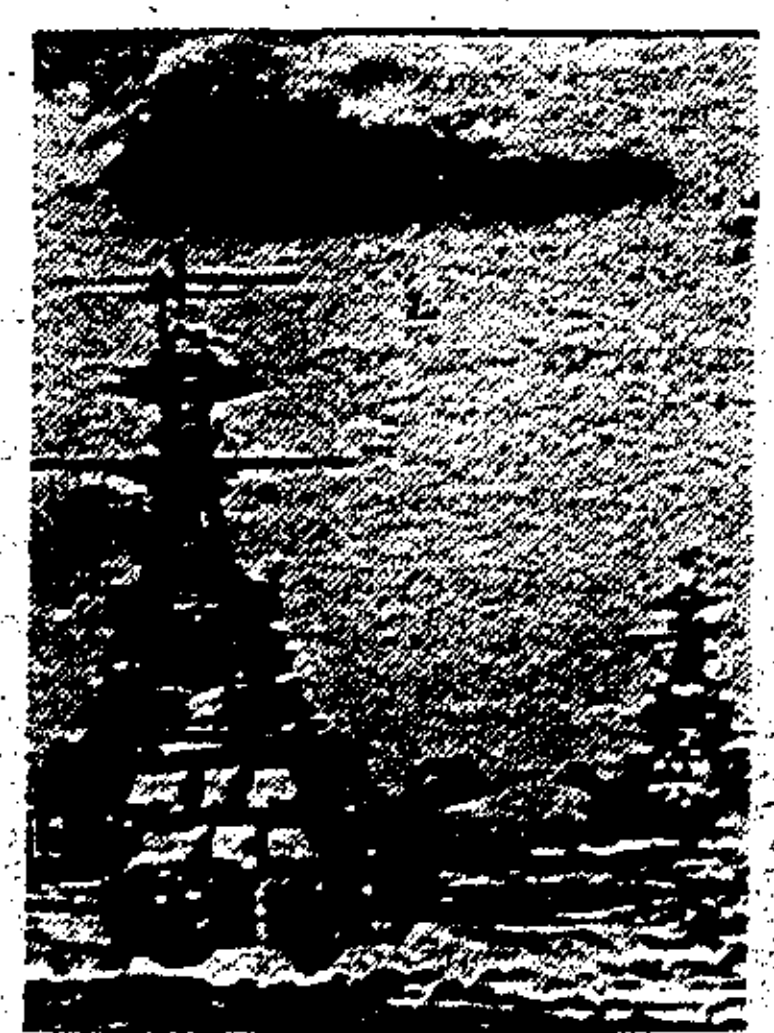

The director of an Ogpu factory in Leningrad, M. Umurov, for instance, is accused of embezzling 237,000 roubles, and the head of the Leningrad restaurant trust, M. Nukowitz, was arrested for having used the facilities at his disposal for preparing luxurious banquets, while neglecting to prepare any steps to provide food for the masses which will be in the city during the anniversary celebrations.—Trans-Ocean Service.
